
FILMS AND TRAVEL & TOURISM

The tourism boards of many countries, such as Switzerland, have in the past targeted Bollywood to showcase themselves as destinations for high-spending Indian travellers. Today, this trend has taken off in a big way, with Indians getting richer and many of them taking foreign holidays. Typically, most countries offer tax sops in the form of VAT refund ranging from 10 -20%, depending on the location and budget. Film production companies are eligible for such refunds if they spend a certain percentage of their entire budget filming in a particular country and using local talent.

There are also ample opportunities for inbound tourism beyond popular destinations such as Goa, Kerala and Rajasthan. Indian films can be a great platform to showcase the country's rich cultural heritage, variety of travel destinations and diversity in cuisine to the world. Hollywood films can perform the same task if provided with adequate facilities and incentives. The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting and the Ministry of Tourism have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to provide strong support to film tourism in a bid to give a fillip to the "Incredible India" campaign and cinema as its sub-brand at various international film festivals and markets abroad. According to the MoU, the Ministry of Tourism will provide budgetary support for identified film festivals and offer single-window clearance permission to shoot films. This is expected to create a film tourism vertical that will promote India as a filming destination for domestic and foreign film producers.
